

Find the Door and open it

If you are locked in your life, locked into ideas and dogmas, you find yourself separated from the Source which is including all aspects of existence.

May be you are too civilized to enjoy yourself and others as much as possible.

May be you are trapped by social conventions and miss creativity and joy painfully.

Returning to receptivity brings back freshness and happiness and mostly good health too.

Many of us tried to touch the formlessness with different methods and diverse meditations.

Most of us tasted the quality of non-duality for shorter or longer.

It's time now to play the forms, to enjoy them and to work with the richness of all kind of expressions – always remembering the formless and staying in touch with this energy.

Then darkness and shadows will not last for long and disappear soon.

Marlis is trying to communicate the frequency of the formlessness to people who want to know who they are without old programs and habits.

Answers arise out of the direct connection with the Source, new directions appear.

Heaven and earth can naturally and comfortably co-exist.

Your earth nature is corresponding with your eternal nature.

Are you ready to step into an adventure with yourself and the whole cosmos?

You are welcome to discover your resources.
